

Conditions for Use of Materials from State of Green

The following conditions apply when downloading materials from State of Green's Toolbox, including images, white papers, films, logos, power point slides and other graphic elements:

State of Green hereby grants a gratuitous non-exclusive right to the use of the downloaded material.

The materials downloaded from the State of Green Toolbox may only be used in connection with the positive promotion of Denmark as a green nation, including promotion in all written media, Danish as well as foreign (e.g. advertisements, brochures, magazines, newspapers), in all electronic and digital media, including CD-ROM versions and on the Internet.

The right of use for the images, videos and other materials from State of Green may not be transferred to a third party.

The use of any photos from the State of Green Toolbox must always be accredited to State of Green through the use of either the State of Green logo or the State of Green URL (www.stateofgreen.com) printed/embedded on the photo, right next to the photo or in the colophon, unless a specific exemption is granted by State of Green.

The materials downloaded from the State of Green Toolbox may not be used in an offensive way or in an offensive context or for commercial purposes. By way of example, it is considered offensive if a photo appears with products sold with a view of profit (i.e. posters, postcards, maps, games, key rings and the like).

Videos downloaded from the State of Green Toolbox may not be edited or in any way altered without specific written consent from State of Green.

Should the conditions contained herewith not be observed, State of Green shall have every authority to claim breach of agreement – including claim for damages – and following a written demand, the right of use for the materials will be cancelled with immediate effect.

State of Green may claim its rights at any time, and on a reasonable notice – also in cases where no breach of agreement or offence has occurred – State of Green may cancel the right of use, and in such cases State of Green shall not be held responsible for any claims.

Any disputes concerning the interpretation of the terms and conditions contained herewith shall be settled in accordance with the laws of Denmark, venue being the Maritime and Commercial Court in Copenhagen.

The right of use for the materials is granted on the condition that the terms and conditions outlined above are accepted.

In case of doubt, please contact the State of Green secretariat, who can help determine each case. The secretariat can be reached via email at toolbox@stateofgreen.com.

By accepting these conditions you also agree to automatically receive the State of Green Toolbox newsletter which is sent out 2-3 times a year with updates on new available materials etc. Should you no longer wish to receive this newsletter, you can manually unsubscribe through the unsubscribe link in each newsletter.